

Fellowship for Visiting Research Assistant Professor

Purpose: To improve environment for international collaborations within the groups of “Global COE Program” in Nagoya University Graduate School of Medicine, we invite young scientists to spend 1-2 years for research. One or two young scientists will be invited to work with supervision of a professor who is a member of global COE program.

Eligibility: This position is open for young scientist (PhD) who obtained PhD in 5 years. The scientists from Europe and North America are preferable.

Term of fellowship: 1-2years, non-expandable.

Application Process: The young scientist (you) eligible for this opportunity should contact and send your CV with research plan (within 250 words) to one of the members who are listed on the home page of this GCOE. When the professor agrees with you to work, he will contact the Office of Global COE and submit the application for you with his recommendation.

Review Process of Applications: The review committee will go through applications and select one or two applications based on publications, research fields, research plans. The result will be noticed to the professors.

Salary: Approximately ¥5,500,000/year will be determined based on the regulation upon salary by Nagoya University.

Contact: The Office of Global COE

ceomed@med.nagoya-u.ac.jp